

Radio Silence Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy was last modified on March 20, 2021.

Radio Silence (“us”, “we”, or “our”) operates Swatch This (the “Game(s)”, “App(s)”, and “Product(s)”). This page informs you of our policies regarding the collection, use and disclosure of Personal Information we receive from User (the “User(s)” or the “Player(s)”) of the Game.

Data Collected

The Game collects data and stores it in Apple services such as Game Center. This enables online matches, leaderboards, and achievements. We do not store personal or gameplay data on our servers.

Data Use

We only use data to provide support for the User and Game, including to:

1. Enable online matches between Players.
3. Ensure security, operability and legal compliance, such as:
 - Detecting and fixing bugs and operability issues.
 - Detecting and preventing fraudulent or illegal activity.
 - Complying with legal obligations.

Disclosures to Third Parties

Apple also receives data about gameplay. Otherwise, we do not share data with any third party providers. We may share data when required by law or if necessary to comply with subpoenas, court orders or other legal processes.

Data Retention

1. The game retains data within Apple services, such as Game Center and iCloud. For more information, view Apple’s privacy policies.
2. No User data is retained outside of Apple services.

Permission and declining or withdrawing permission for data

The User can decline to provide data and can withdraw permission after initially providing it. However, as a result, certain features may not be available. For example, if the User does not log in to Game Center, they will not be able to play matches online or view achievements and leaderboards.

Contact Information

For questions or concerns about this Privacy Policy, please contact us at RadioSilenceApps@gmail.com or by mail at:

Radio Silence
PO Box 542
Chicago Park, CA 95712